MFHA PROVIDES SOLUTIONS FOR THE MULTICULTURAL FUTURE WORKFORCE WITH LAUNCH OF DIGITAL PUBLICATION

PROVIDENCE (January 12, 2012) – The Multicultural Foodservice & Hospitality Alliance (MFHA) in October launched its first issue of INclusion INmotion, a digital publication for multicultural and minority students.

With this publication, MFHA will educate, inspire, and engage the food and hospitality industry's future workforce. INclusion INmotion serves as a "multicultural handbook" for students, showing them what kind of trends and challenges will impact the global economy and the businesses where they will work.

"MFHA is really excited about this milestone in our evolution," said MFHA's founder and president, Gerry Fernandez. "The launch of this publication will go a long way in keeping our students engaged and enlightened on a continuing basis."

Each issue, which is free for members, also features items on career and personal development, scholarship, and internship opportunities. Also, it teaches industry lingo and provides numerous tips on how to enter the food and hospitality industry. In addition, the publication offers interactive videos, recipes, polls, phone apps, and more.

INclusion INmotion aims to bring students and young professionals together around a common goal of career mapping on an interactive, digital platform. INclusion INmotion is a valuable resource for educators and parents as they assist their students and children to a successful future.
